

"Oh Allah"

When Qur'an
Buddies praised
Allah

COMPILED BY BARAKAH BASHIR

In the name of Allah, the most beneficent, the most merciful

All praise and thanks belongs to Allah swt the most high, the most merciful. Blessings and peace be upon the Prophet Muhammad S.A.W, his family, companions and those who follow his footsteps till the end of time.

Praising Allah is one of the most commendable acts a slave can perform, the messenger of Allah pbuh said "There is none who likes to be praised more than Allah does." (Bukhārī). He also said: "The inhabitants of Paradise... will praise and glorify Allah as easily as you breathe." (Muslim)

Earlier this year, one of the activities of Qur'an Buddies {A group of sisters studying the deeper meaning of the Qur'an using the Tafseer} was to praise Allah without asking Him for anything. The task was quite challenging as it was difficult for some of these sisters to put their words together.

Although they were able to send in their praises, the challenges they experienced are challenges something most of us experience on a daily basis. As we are approaching the last ten days of Ramadan, what better way to invoke Allah than to start by praising Him. This is the purpose of sharing this compilation of praises with you with the hope that you will find it beneficial in this holy month and beyond.

I ask that you kindly make duas for all the sisters that were mentioned in this book and the entire ummah at large. I ask Allah to count us among those who will constantly remember to praise and worship Him (Amin).

Barakah Bashir

Oh Allah, You are Al-FATTAH, the opener, it is you who opens doors for us when all else is closed and it is You who opens our hearts to guidance when the world pulls us to sinfulness.

You are Al-Hadii, the one who guides us even through the darkest paths, no matter how rough the paths may seem. You guide us through and fill our hearts with light.

You are An-noor, the source of light, brightening the darkest paths and bringing ease when there is difficulty. Our words are never sufficient to praise you

Ya Wadood, you have placed in our hearts the ability to love so immensely. You are the most loving, and You have honoured us with the ability to channel our ability to love towards loving you.

Most importantly, you are Ash-Shakoor, the most appreciative. You accept from us our efforts however little they may seem. You remind us that no deed is too little, and no du'a is irrelevant.

To You belongs all praise, and unto You all thanks.
